A BRUTAL MURDER.

A Colored Cook Cut to Pieces by a Fellow Employe.

The Murderer Arrested and Locked Up in

A tragedy was enacted in the yard attached to the restaurant of the Baltimore and Potomac railroad depot about 9:30 o'cleek yesterday morning. The result of the occurrence was that Peter Washington, colored, was disemboweled by a carving knife in the hands of another colored man named Edward Brice. Both men were employees of the depot restaurant. Washington died in a few minutes after the cutting took place. Brice was captured by Officer Lamb as he was leaving the depot, and taken to the first precint station house, to which place the budy was subsequently removed. Coroner Patterson, assisted by Deputy Coroner Hartigan, held an inquest over the body at the South Washington station in the afternoon. From the testimony it appears that the murdered man, who was saident cook at the restaurant, bad called it appears that the murdered man, who was assistant cook at the restaurant, had called Brice, one of the waiters, to account for neglecting an order from a passenger for food. Brice then called Washington a lifar and invited him out into the yard to fight. After more words Washington took off his coat and said, "Come on out," at the same time pulling Brice to the door. Brice replied, "Hold on! hold on!" After reaching the yard Brice drew the long bread knife from under his coat and plunged it into Washington's abdomen, making a ghastly and desperate wound about seven inches deep and an inch wide. The point of the knife protuded from the neighborhood of the hip, after severing the femoral artery and producing fatal internal hemorrhages. At the instant of the critting Washington cried out, "He has got a knife. Don't let him kill me. Oh, Ned, don't, don't kill me!" He then sank to the ground, with the remark, "I'm atabbed to death. O, Lord!" Brice then went into the kitchen and washed the blood from the long knife.

One of the witnesses testified that Brice took the knife from the paurry and put it under his coat going into the kitchen. The assistant cook at the restaurant, had called

One of the witnesses testified that Brice took the knife from the pantry and put it under his coat going into the kitchen. The Jury, which were composed of John L. Cox. Edward May, James D. Avery, James W. Lynn, Michael Shugrue, and George J. Butt, returned the following verdict: "That the said Peter Washington came to his death about 9:30 o'clook a. m. on the fiteenth of February, 18:54, at the Baltimore and Potomac railroad depot, from a punctured wound of the thigh inflicted by a knife held in the hands of Edward Brice." An hour later the jail van drove up to the station and Brice was driven to that institution in charge of two officers.

With the handle its total length would be about 23 inches.

The scene of the tragedy is a small yard, flanked by high fences, at the northwest corner of the depot building, and within 100 yards of where President Garfield was assassinated. It is marked by a dark pool of blood.

Peter Washington, the victim, was quite dark and rather strongly built, and weighs over 200 pounds. He was good natured, re-ligiously reared, and a prominent member of the colored Odd Fellows. His age was reckthe colored Odd Fellows. His age was reckoned at about 26 or 27 years, and he lived in Jones' court, between Pennsylvania and Missouri avenues and Four-and-a-half and Sixth streets northwest. Deceased was employed as cook at Fitzgerald's restaurant on Pennsylvania avenue near Four-and-a-half street.
Edward Brice, the accused, is a rather mild faced man of about 45 years of age. He is of copper color and weighs about 140 pounds.
His wife and children reside on D street, between First and Second streets southwest.

His wife and children reside on D street, between First and Second streets southwest.

About 3:39 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs.

Washington, mother of the dead man, appeared at the station house accompanied by his two brothers. She asked for the body, and in her excitement said to Lieut. Boteler: "Can't I take the body home in a hack?"

"Can't I take the body home in a back?" Upon receiving a negative reply she stated that she was without money and would have to rely on the colored Odd Fellows to bury her son. Turning to Coroner Patterson she said between sobs! "What will they do with that man?" (meaning Brice). "Hang him," said the coroner. "They ought to kill him now," replied the mother with feeling. "because he killed my poor boy in cold blood."

During the time that the prisoner was in a cell at the station house he sat in ste lence, and only once replied to inquiries con-cerning the deed. He said: "I stabbed him without thinking what I was doing. But it was done in self-defense."

The remains were taken away from the station house about 5:30 o'clock by Addison Day, the undertaker. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

A PITIFUL PROCESSION.

A Company of Insane Veterans from the Northeast Arrive in this City Yester-

An unusual procession was witnessed on the streets of this city yesterday afternoon. It consisted of a long line of insane soldiers, thirty-four in number. They were flanked on either side by lines of guards. As the sad cordon passed along, the poor fellows, most of whom were veterans, chattered incessantly and made queer metions with their hands. They were taken to the government insane asylum in two of Knox's large express wagons. A REPUBLICAN reporter met Dr. Witmer of the asylum a while later and naked him about the juster sole. later and asked him about the insane sol digrs. He said they came from the north-east, where they had been accumulating for six months. A squad of twenty-five more from the west also arrived yesterday.

HEREDITARY TAINTS.

Some Revelations on a Subject Which Concerns the Welfare of the Race and the Happiness of All.

Richester Democrat and Chronic's.

To any one who has studied the laws of life, and especially those which relate to reproduction, an experience such as we are about to relate will come with special force and interest. The transmission of cortain mental traits of promincence, and of certain physical traits of equal prominence, are facts which all acknowledge, but which none can walca all acknowledge, but watch none can understand. The father may be distin-guished—the son, an imbecile; or, the parent may be decrepted and unknown, and the child achieve the highest place possible to human-ity. But through it all there will be certain characteristics, which mark the individual as descending from certain ancestors. Too often, indeed, these characteristics are infirmities, and often of a physical nature.
These facts were strikingly brought out

These facts were strikingly brought out during a conversation which a representive of this paper recently had with Mrs. Carrie D. T. Swift, who is the wife of one of our most prominent citizens. This lady related that she inherited from her parents certain tendencies over which she had no control, and which were in the nature of blood difficulties, assuming the form of rheumatism. Her experience can best be described in her own words. To the writer she said:

"I felt the beginning of this hereditary taint many years ago, in vague pains, which own words. To the writer she said:

"I felt the beginning of this hereditary taint many years ago, in vague pains, which seemed to come unaccountably and at an uncalled for times. They were annoying, exhausting, and interfered not only with my duties, but also totally destroyed my happiness. At first, they would be only transient, appearing for a day or two, and then disappearing; then again they would come in such violent forms that it was impossible for me to lift a cup to my mouth. Afterward, my feet and hands swelled so that it was impossible for me to draw on my shoes or gloves without the greatest effort. I realized what the difficulty was, but seemed powerless to avert it. I finally became so bad that I was confined to the house and to my bed most of the time. My joints pained me continuously and my feet swelled to enormous proportions. Knowing that I inherited this tendency, I had about abandoned hope, when I began the use of a remedy, which was recommended to me by a friend as being specially efficient in cases of a similar kind. To my great gratitude, I found that it relieved me, restored my appetite, and I am able to say that now I have gained forty that it relieved me, restored my appetite, and I am able to say that now I have gained forty pounds in weight, feel perfectly well, and am in the best possible condition, owing, wholly, to Warner's Safe Rheumatic cure, which was the remedy I used."

the remedy I used."
"No one would over suspect you had suffered so, Mrs. Swift, to see you now," remarked the reporter.
"That is what all my friends say. Only resterday, an acquaintance of mine, whom I had not seen for some time, hesitated before speaking, and apologized by saying, 'Why, I really did not know you, you have changed so for the better since I last met you. How well you do look."

"Have you any objection to giving the name of the party who first mentioned this "Not the slightest. It was Mr. R. H. Furman, the photographer."

The newspaper man, after bidding Mrs. Swift good-bye, repaired to the photographic rooms of Mr. Furman, when the following conversation ensued:

"Have you been a sufferer from rheu-matism, Mr. Furman?"

"Well, I should think I had."

"Well, I should think I had."
"For how many years ?"
"Twelve or fifteen."
"Did you try to cure it?"
"Yes; I tried everything, and, at last, went to the Hot Springs, of Arkansas, and nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure."
"And it cured you, did it?"
"Yes, completely."
"And you can cordially recommend it?"
"Yes, indeed, more cordially than anything I have ever known of. It is simply a wonderful medicine. I believe that two-thirds of all cases, both acute and chronic, could be deriul medicine. I believe that two-thirds of all cases, both acute and chronic, could be cured as I was cured by the use of this remedy. In fact, I know a number of persons who have been in the worst possible condition, and are now completely well, wholly through its use."

The statements above made are from sources the authority of which connot be questioned. They conclusively prove the value of the proparation named, and show that even hereditary traits can be removed by the use of the proper means.

Wilbor's Compound of PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Liver Oil will be persons who have been taking Cod Liver Oil will be pleased to learn that Dr. Wilbor has succeeded, from directions of several prefessional gentiemen, in combining the pure Oil and Line in such a manner that it is pleasant to the taste, and its effects in Linig complaints are truly wonderful. Very many tersons whose cases were pronounced hopeless, and who had taken the clear Oil for a long time without marked effect, have been entirely cared by using this preparation. Re sure and get the genuine. Manufactured only by A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston. Sold by all druggists.

Adam's Fall and Mine.

SHABURY & JOHNSON-Gentlemen: The theologians have told told us how Adam fell. Let me tell ou how I fell, and what came of it. I had occasion to be in Rondout, N. Y., late last au I had occasion to be in Rondout, N. Y., late last au-tumn. Like most Hudson river towns, Rondout is all up hill and down hill. In that town one should be sure of his nerves and muscles; for if every bedliy power he has len't always ready he's liable to find himself-sprawling on his back at any moment. If Adam had lived in Rondout he would have failen by noon of the first day—or certainly some time before Eve.

On the night I am thinking of the enow was two inches deep, with numerous patches of ice hidden under it here and there. I was walking cautiously down one of the safer streets, where no more than two persons out of three, as a rule, get severe falls daily in the winter, and one in three in summer. Suddenly my feet flew from under me, and I measured my length on one of the most unsympathetic bila of sidewalk I ever struck. For five minutes I lay there, unable to rise, under the impression that the earth had dropped through a draw bridge, and I was the only man left to give the story to the reporters. porters.

Well, when I was at last assisted to my hotel it was found that my left hip was seriously bruised and that I was suffering severely from the shock.

The pain and weakness resulting from that fail continued for months. Every coil settled there. At times the soreness has been very great—in fact almost crippling me. times the screness has been very great—in fact almost crippling me.

Not long ago I tried for the first time a BENSON'S CAPCINE POBOUS PLASTER on that lame and acting hip. The effect was remarkable, delightful, and immediate. Nothing I had previously used produced anything like this result. Under the warm and scotling influence of the plaster the nervous pain subsided at once, and in less than thirty-six hours scarcely any sorsmess remained. With Intermissions, frepeated the application three times, and now I consider myself permanently relieved from the consequences of my unlacky slip. I write this merely for the benefit of other sufferers, and shall be gled to see or hear from them on the subject.
